July 24th 2017: Team Performance: What makes some teams gel and others crumble?

Whether you're a leader or a team member, you're going to want to tune in to this week's show... as we explore group dynamics/psychology to uncover the elements needed to create a high performance work team. Is it all about talent? Is competition a useful motivator? Are emotions contagious? These are just a couple questions we'll tackle on the show this week. Be sure to listen live, so you call in and share your experience/strategies on building a great team! Also, if you have a question or comment about the show, please email me at thementalgameoflife@gmail.com.
