January 26th 2018: Medical Cannabis Patient Privacy and Data Security

Most people assume that their data is safe in cannabis stores & medical cannabis dispensaries. Or they believe if they pay in cash there will be no record of their cannabis purchase. Those are incorrect beliefs. How do dispensaries secure & share data? Who WANTS that data? What security is needed? Some in government, law enforcement & employers want data about state legal marijuana and medical cannabis purchases. Michelle Dumay, Cannabis Patient Advocate, helps cannabis dispensaries & stores to secure their customers' & patients' data & privacy. Michelle learned through experience getting tre

Featured Guest

Michelle Dumay

Michelle Dumay is the mother of a terminally ill child born with a rare brain abnormality that required removal of nearly half of her brain at birth. Experience as her daughters caregiver and medical advocate for more than 1200 appointments has allowed her to serve on patient advisory councils for two childrens hospital Los Angeles and Phoenix and one insurer Mercy Care. As a trained chemist, she 1st turned to conventionalpharma for treatment of her daughters seizures. She then tried medicinal cannabis to mitigate her seizures. After some success Michelle wanted to petition her insurance companies for copayment. Although federal Prohibition is a huge issue, she learned many medical cannabis
