Frankly Speaking About Cancer with the Cancer Support Community
Tuesdays at 1 PM Pacific
November 6th 2018: Immunotherapy and Lung Cancer

Without a doubt, the past few years have been an exciting time for lung cancer research with new drugs bringing hope to patients and their families. In today's episode, we're going to take a close look at how immunotherapy is being used to treat lung cancer and why the medical community is so optimistic about its potential. Our guest is Dr. David Carbone.
