July 19th 2019: Care of The Greyhound - Part 2

Dr. Morrie Craig, co~author of "Care of the Racing & Retired Greyhound", joins Greyhounds Make Great Pets live on July 19, 2019 to discuss how he catches "cheaters" in animal sports and the drug testing programs he has created which are aimed at reducing and eliminating cheating in racing sports. His many decades of experience and research has been vital to the greyhound racing industry, Iditarod sled dog races and homing pigeon racing. In addition we will also explore Dr. Craig's participation in an on-going project as a consultant to Phyto-Ruminal Bio-remediation in Kuwait, an effort to cle

Morrie Craig

Dr. A. Morrie Craig has spent a good part of his life creating drug-testing programs aimed at eliminating cheating in animal related racing sports. Dr. Craig succeeded in developing a drug-testing program for the National Greyhound Association and that program is still in effect today. Along with his associates at OSU, Dr. Craig undertook comprehensive research proving scientifically that a procaine presence in greyhounds did not alter racing performance. Dr. Craig and his team were invited to Alaska to put together a drug-testing program for the Iditarod, similar to what was done for the NGA and was named chief of the program overseeing the Iditarod's drug-testing for 25 years.
