September 27th 2019: Adult Day Care for Those Affected by Alzheimer's Disease

This episode of the Living to 100 Club Radio show explores adult day care programs, and the support, education, and crisis management provided to families whose loved ones have Alzheimer's disease or a related dementia. Adult day care programs offer structured therapeutic activities, such as cognitive stimulation and socialization for seniors with a dementing disorder in safe, secure environments. They also offer families needed respite, and opportunities to exchange advice, solutions, and community resources with other caregivers. Our guest, Scott Tarde, CEO of the George Glenner Alzheimer's
