May 18th 2020: Zhittya Genesis Medicine:
Repairing Lung Damage from Covid-19

In this episode of The Ellis Martin Report we'll direct the entire show to discussion of Covid-19 in a way that primarily discusses health and economics. Our first two segments will feature Zhittya Genesis Medicine which is currently researching a repair through an aerosol inhaler designed for the afflicted lungs of Covid patients. Company president Dr. Jack Jacobs will give us a report on his findings. We then have a full ad hoc discussion with Zhittya CEO Dan Montano where he'll share his thoughts about the economics aspect of the lockdown where he mentions countries such as Sweden remain

Dan Montano

Daniel Montano is the CEO of Zhittya Genesis Medicine Inc. For the last 21 years, he has been advancing a group of biological drugs which in USA FDA clinical trials has demonstrated that it triggers the growth of new blood vessels in ischemic tissues, a medical treatment we call "Therapeutic Angiogenesis". He believes their drug treatment (if and when approved by the USA FDA) can treat the cause of death and suffering which affects over 50% of the adults in the world. He has expended over $140 million, so far advancing this medicine through research and clinical trials to seek regulatory approval. Presently we are advancing 19 medical indications.
