Security Controls For A Remote Workforce

The Chief Technology Officer of Varonis, Brian Vecci appears on Episode #142 of Task Force 7 Radio to break down how he approaches Cyber Security, what he believes are the top security issues and threats related to work from home and remote security protocols, and whether or not companies should be concerned about their dependence and use of Microsoft Teams. Mr. Vecci also unpacked the challenges around the insider threat, how companies should identify anomalous behavior with remote employees, and how the processes around controls need to shift to address the remote workforce. In the third
