Wednesday at 9 AM Pacific
July 22nd 2020: Redefining Impossible With
Sean Swarner

Sean Swarner is voted one of the top most inspirational people in the world. As a 2x cancer survivor who was told he would barely be able to walk, he redefined impossible by being the first person to reach the peak of all 7 continents, trek to the North and South Poles, complete numerous marathons and obstacles such as Hawaii Ironman - and he did it all with one lung. Sean has helped hundreds of people from all around the world how to redefine their own impossible and today, he is here to share with us how we can find inspiration from within to face our own challenges.

Featured Guest

Sean Swarner

Sean Swarner is a philanthropist, author, and keynote speaker. He is a two-time terminal-cancer survivor who has dedicated his life to helping others reach their full potential. Sean created CancerClimber with his brother in 2001, a nonprofit organization that pays for and travels with cancer survivors to climb Kilimanjaro. Sean's passion for climbing and adventure blossomed after becoming the first cancer survivor to summit Mount Everest. He is also the only person to complete the World Ironman Championship and the Explorer's Grand Slam, which entails climbing the summits across all 7 continents and reaching both North and South Poles. From executives of Fortune 500 companies, such as Uni
