Task Force 7 Cyber Security Radio
Monday at 5 PM Pacific
November 23rd 2020: Ep: 159: Why Are We Still Talking About Email Security?

The Chief Technology Officer for InQuest, Pedram Amini breaks down why email security is still a huge issue for most businesses, what types of email attacks are prevalent in the market today, and how corporations can defend themselves against these resilient attacks. Amini also unpacks the email technologies provided by Microsoft and Google, which one of them have more effective email security, and the projects and technologies he has developed to fight the good fight against one of the biggest attack vectors used by Cyber Organized Criminals today.
