February 21st 2021: Regaining Human Connection!

During this time in history, when our lives are hyper-connected through technology, but disconnected from each other, the number of young people (and adults) with mental health disorders and challenges is growing at alarming rate. The current pandemic, where isolation has become a required "norm," has caused the related statistics and problems to only intensify. The fact is, we all need human connection, and yet it is lacking from our lives in far too many ways. Join Paula and her internationally beloved guest as they share from-the-heart tips and support to help us all – educators, schools, f
