June 17th 2021: From Neurons To Nations: Regulating For The Benefit Of All Beings

Tune in

Thursday at 11 AM Pacific
Time on VoiceAmerica Variety
Channel

In this show, our guest Boaz Feldman will be calling in from Geneva Switzerland with great interest in connecting to our listeners. Much as the title suggests, Boaz Feldman's passion is the integration of knowledge from many sources for personal growth, humanitarian outreach, clinical training and intervention across borders. He will speak about his experience as a Buddhist Monk and what contemplative practice brings to humanitarian work and clinical work. He will discuss his development of NeuroSystemics which recognizes the integration of body-mind regulation, healthy relational attachment

Featured Guest

Boaz B. Feldman, PgC, SEP, MSc

Boaz Feldman is a clinical psychologist, contemplative and trauma trainer acting for worldwide positive change. He has worked with numerous international organizations (UNHCR, UNOCHA, WHO, Doctors Without Borders) in a variety of humanitarian contexts such as conflict-affected regions (Afghanistan, Burkina Faso), low-income contexts (Eastern Europe) and natural emergencies (Thailand). Trained in Mindfulness for over 15 years, Boaz first ordained as a Buddhist Monk in Thailand, and then studied MBSR-MBCT at the University of Bangor. He co-founded NeuroSystemics, an integrative skills-building and healing method for bio-affective regulation, healthy relational attachment and embodied community
