

Advancing ALL Women
Friday at 7 AM Pacific
July 23rd 2021: Women in STEM

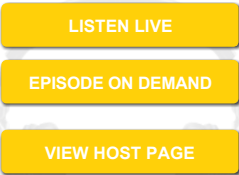

This week's episode of 'Advancing ALL Women,' with host Sarah Alter, President and CEO of Network of Executive Women, is 'Women in STEM.' Joining Sarah are guests Dr. Jayshree Seth, Corporate Scientist and Chief Science Advocate at 3M; Monique Picou, Global Executive: Product, Tech Strategy, & Server Operations, Google; and Tiffany Sargent, Chief Technologist for Cloud and Enterprise Sales and is a Senior Principal Engineer at Intel Corporation. Our panel will discuss the importance of bringing more women into STEM fields, the barriers women face to entering the industry, and best practices fo

Read more

Tune in

Friday at 7 AM Pacific Time on
VoiceAmerica Empowerment
Channel/Weekly on
VoiceAmerica Influencers
Channel

Questions? Comments?
Call In Live! Call-In
Toll Free: 1-888-346-9141
Intl: 001-480-553-5760

Featured Guests

Monique Picou
Monique Picou is VP, Global Server Operations & Tech Strategy at Google, where she leads development and expansion of server floor operations and data center materials, including strategies for technology, planning, staffing, product, process, and capability for Google Cloud. With more than 28 years of experience in manufacturing, engineering, logistics, innovation, joint business planning, commercial negotiations, and new business development, Monique began her career with Procter & Gamble. She later became chief strategy and supply chain officer at Walmart, where she led enterprise strategy for Sam's Club Enterprise and Club Brick & Mortar + Ecommerce Supply Chain. Monique advocates for

Read more

Dr. Jayshree Seth
Jayshree Seth is a Corporate Scientist at 3M and leads Applied Technology Development for Industrial Adhesives and Tapes Division. She joined 3M in 1993 after an MS and PhD in Chemical Engineering from Clarkson University, New York, and she currently holds 72 patents for a variety of innovations with several additional pending. Jayshree was appointed 3M's first ever Chief Science Advocate in 2018 and is using her scientific knowledge, technical expertise and professional experience to advance science and communicate the importance and benefits of science in everyday life. She is also a member of Carlton Society which is the 3M Science and Engineering 'hall of fame.' Jayshree is the 4th woman

Read more

Tiffany Sargent
Tiffany A. Sargent is the Chief Technologist for Cloud and Enterprise Sales and is a Senior Principal Engineer at Intel Corporation. Tiffany collaborates with her ecosystem partners to develop blended and multi-disciplinary solutions that drive value and advance their business objectives. These solutions include the full spectrum of Complex Systems across Internet of Things, Machine to Machine (M2M), Cloud, Enterprise, and Distributed Analytics. Tiffany holds a bachelor's and master's degree in Industrial Engineering and Operations Research. She also has a Project Management Professional (PMP) certification. Her engineering education has enabled her to span technical and business roles at

Read more

Share This Episode

Connect with VoiceAmerica

Read what our hosts are writing about.

