December 26th 2013: 'Winning Ponies' Presents a Year in Review with Pete Aiello and Ed Meyer

For a final show of 2013, we will feature two guests who have experienced the racing game from all sides. Pete Aiello and Ed Meyer have experience from the racing office, as PR and Marketing men. As horse owners, radio and television hosts, track announcers and handicappers, they both have a real love of the sport. While ESPN will count down their top 50 NFL plays this week, Pete and Ed will give us their top 5 racing events of 2013. We will also be handicapping 3 races - the $200,000 (gr. 2) W.L. McKnight Handicap from Calder; the $100,000 (gr. 3) Mr. Prospector Stakes from Gulfstream Park and

Featured Guests

Pete Aiello
Pete Aiello left Oaklawn Park's racing analyst and Announcer job to become Gulfstream Park's Race Caller. He is a native of South Florida and a graduate of the University of Arizona Race Track Industry Program. Mr. Aiello was the track announcer at Hialeah Park and River Downs. He also has called the Quarter Horse meetings the last three years at Hialeah Park, a racetrack that was integral in Aiello's introduction to racing as a youngster. Aiello got interested in announcing as a child growing up and playing a computer game that simulated races but did not have an announcer. He called his first full card of races while working as an intern at Finger Lakes in New York in 2006. He called races

Ed Meyer
Ed Meyer is the track announcer and morning line odds maker for Belterra Park and Casino, since the refurbished old River Downs into a combination track and slots gambling destination, was reopened in early May 2014. He has worked at Turfway Park, River Downs, and Keeneland. He is an avid handicapper, and has qualified for the NTRA DRF Handicapping Championships and placed four times in the money in the Horse Player World Series in Las Vegas. He has hosted multiple radio shows in the Cincinnati market and was an on-air handicapper. Ed was the original Winning Ponies Radio Show host, and has been writing and blogging for Winning Ponies since 2008. Ed was also Publicity Director at Riv
