

EMPOWERMENT

Faith and Money: Making the Connection
Archives Available

January 20th 2014: Escaping the work more,
spend more cycle

Are you weary of the frenzy of producing and consuming? The endless cycle of work-more-spend-more is exhausting, but even when we want to escape the cycle, it can seem impossible. In this week's program, we are moving further into the practical aspects of connecting our money and our faith. Pastor Matthew Colwell will show us why and how to slow our lives down a bit and remember who we are and whose we are. Then Angela Lincoln and Tim Darst will share their story of choosing to consume less than is typical in the U.S., opening a full and faithful life for themselves and their daughters. Thro

Read more

Tune in

Archives Available on VoiceAmerica Empowerment
Channel

Featured Guests

Matthew Colwell

Matthew Colwell currently serves as pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church in Pasadena, CA. He is the author of Sabbath Economics: Household Practices, a multi-faceted guide to living out the biblical vision of God's economy today. A former auto mechanic and teacher at Fuller Theological Seminary, Colwell has spoken around the country on immigration, biblical economics, spiritual practices and church revitalization.

Read more

Tim Darst

Over their 20-year marriage, Angela Lincoln and Tim Darst have intentionally chosen to consume less than is typical in the U.S., reducing their stress, shaping their parenting, increasing their joy, and freeing them to work part-time at jobs that significantly contribute to their community and the world. Angela teaches theology at a Louisville, KY, Catholic girls' high school. Tim is executive director of Kentucky Interfaith Power and Light, an organization that mobilizes a religious response to climate change.

Read more

Share This Episode

Connect with VoiceAmerica

Download our mobile apps

Read what our hosts are writing about.

