June 3rd 2014: Purpose-Driven Employees: Sustainable Happiness and The Bottom Line

The buzz: Purpose. Engaged employees are happier, which translates to greater productivity, creativity, and commitment to their company's success. If this describes only a few of your people, what are you doing to attract and nurture more like them? You can start by unleashing employees' personal passions and creating work environments that recognize and reward purpose-driven staff. Done right, it will impact your employees, workplace culture, the bottom line. The experts speak. Jenn Lim, Delivering Happiness: "People will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people
