June 23rd 2015: Positive Changes for Our Home Designs

The population of older adults in America is increasing every year. In 2010, there were 40.3 million or nearly 13% of the population who were age 65 or older. By 2030, there will be an estimated 72 million seniors to equal 20% of the US population. Many of us are facing this reality for ourselves and our parents when deciding how to adapt to physical and psychological changes that come with seniorship and how to make design changes for our homes to be havens of comfort, which are safe plus attractive. Listen to Dynamic Insights for your Home Environment when Laura Mineff and her guest Shalom P
