Tuesday at 11 AM Pacific
August 18th 2015: Leading Analytics Programs to Drive Business Returns

Business Analytics is a hot topic for many organizations. Analytics programs can be a significant differentiator for organizational success when implemented successfully. When done poorly they waste money, time and good will. James will talk about: 1. Which is more important - technology or leadership? 2. How much does leadership capability impact outcomes? 3. What are "leadership maturity levels" and how do they impact implementation success? 4. How do you use your understanding of leadership maturity to increase your program success and ROI? 5. What are the most important leadership
