May 31st 2016: Close the Gap with Coach John P Morgan, Jr.

Close the Gap will feature co-host Noam Kostucki and guest John P. Morgan, Jr. John is an accomplished coach and teaches that your life and work – everything you experience and create – unfolds from the dance between your will and the world. The more ‘aligned’ you are between who you Be and who you actually Are, the more power you have in asserting your will. The more powerfully you assert your will, the greater what you create is a reflection of your capacity. John will describe how his mission with clients is to close the gap between who they Be and who they really Are. He will explain how m

John P Morgan, Jr

My vision is a more connected and loving world. I create this by challenging leaders to discover a whole worldview and to embody a radically deep personal integrity. I have been coaching and speaking since the late 90's and this work became my profession in 2009. I have supported numerous leaders to grow their organization by growing themselves. I shared my ideas on human connection on the TEDx stage, spoke about creating a borderless world at a private event attended by billionaires, and the University of Cambridge Psychology department has researched the impact of my leadership on students.
