July 18th 2017:How to Rediscover the Spotlight You Lost

Celebs feel lost once they've fallen out of the spotlight, so many turn to self-destructive behaviors. But, today's guest, George Green, is the epitome of reinvention and how to shine in other spotlights. For years, he worked at KABC Talk Radio, including as President and General Manager, putting his station on the map as the first 24/7 all talk radio--until a new company took over KABC and brought in their own, despite the success attributable to George. Out of the blue, he lost the spotlight from millions of listeners. Hear how he turned feeling hurt, embarrassed, angry and heartbroken into

George Green

During his 17 years as the President and General Manager of KABC radio, George Green gained a reputation as one of the top sales motivators in the country, for managing a radio station that cared about L.A., and for creating dozens of community events benefiting the city. His editorial responsibility saw him write and air over two-thousand editorials, heard by millions of KABC's listeners in Southern California. George won numerous business, community, and media industry awards-including Executive of the Year by Southern California's Executive Magazine. When his career in radio ended, George found it difficult to sit back and watch life float by. So, when founding a talent management compa
