September 28th 2017: Love is the Power

How do you go from playing the saxophone with the Beach Boys to becoming an expert in the study of subtle energy engineering and on to inventing Quantum Code Technology? Robert O. Williams did this. His research has provided scientific breakthroughs in field-based technologies, consciousness, and human potential. We will hear his story that takes him from music to teaching to running a music studio through a near-death experience and on to quantum physics. Don't miss this one.
