Occupy Health: What's Real and what is not with Susan Downs, MD

Occupy Health
Friday at 11 AM Pacific
November 10th 2017: All About Pain

Chronic pain affects over 100 million US adults and 20 percent of children worldwide. Each year, Americans spend billions of dollar on medications, surgery and therapies in a quest to find relief - often leading to more suffering and hopelessness. Chronic pain is complex. It changes brain chemistry and can cause a loss of grey matter. Women and men process pain in different parts of the brain and consequently experience pain differently. Dr. Christo explains the complex nature of pain and provides a wide range of tools and techniques scientifically proven to help patients control an
