March 9th 2018: Toxic Soup: GMO glyphosate, aspartane, EMF

There are many toxins in our environment each of which act synergistically to compromise health. These toxins include glyphosate, GMOs, fluoride, EMF, and aspartane. The US Government not regulate these or protect the public, but supported putting these into the environment. For example, in 1996, Congress passed a law stating that cell tower placement could not be altered for health reasons. Cell tower radiation not only has adverse health effects but now has the capability to snoop into every home and to inject energy used in crowd control. John discusses aspartane. Although the U
