Robert Black

Robert Black "RB" has 38 years of owning and operating a precision machining and sheet metal company, predominately servicing the aircraft and defense industry. In 2006 RB created Spec Rest and Lone Star Field Products. Originally Spec Rest was designed as a precision tripod weapons mount, for long distance varmint hunting and quickly became adapted within law enforcement and the military, globally. As of 2018 Spec Rest is deployed in 46 countries. Spec Rest provides the ultimate stable platform, which allows the shooter rapid macro adjustments, combined with micro elevation adjustments "on the fly". Spec Rest platforms all rifles from small caliber to .50 BMG, ARs, bolt guns as well a
