March 16th 2018: Dental Health: Fluoride and Mercury Health Hazards

Toxins are a major contributor to inflammation, oxidative stress and disease. Fluoride and mercury are biohazards and toxins that create serious health problems. Fluoride may help a tooth when fluoride comes into contact with the tooth, but fluoride leads into contact with a tooth, but does harm to the body and has been blamed for lowering IQs by five or six points. Fluoride has been found in our food including Wheaties and fruit loops. Mercury, self also causes inflammation and serious health problems. Simply brushing teeth or a dental exam cause mercury vapors to go into the body a
