February 23rd 2018: Identity Fraud and Theft: Don't Be a Victim!

In this episode we discuss a long-time problem, since before the use of smartphones, and even before personal computers existed, but one that is getting progressively worse. Identity theft. With many more ways in which a person's identity can be stolen, there is much more damage that can be done to victims. How does identity theft occur? What are the different types of identity theft? Does reviewing your credit report help that much in identifying when someone may have stolen your identity? What about stolen identities of children? And of the deceased? What are the primary ways to prevent
