May 15th 2018: Automotive State of the Union: Urban Mobility and Smart Cities

The buzz: "If you plan cities for cars and traffic, you get cars and traffic. If you plan for people and places, you get people and places" (Fred Kent). By 2030, 2/3 of humanity will live in urban areas and megacities with 10+ million populations will increase by 65%. Good news: cities bring innovation and economic progress. Not-so-good-news: cities are bogged down by traffic congestion, aging infrastructures, quality of life threats. Can smart city technologies focused on automotive – intermodal transportation planning and intelligent traffic management– alleviate these challenges? The expert

Featured Guests

Joe Renz

Joe Renz is an Electronics Engineer from Stuttgart, Germany (Home of Mercedes, Bosch, Porsche, etc.), and now resides in Chicago. After a 20-year corporate IT career at CA Technologies he co-founded New Mobility Lab in June 2016. Simply put, cars and IT are in his blood. Joe understands the car as an important building block in the future of multi-modal mobility. However, much of disruptive innovation happens in the form of solutions around the car and in the broader mobility ecosystem - the System of Systems, where Distributed Ledger Technologies (DLT) such as IOTA play an instrumental role. Joe goes far beyond the car itself and takes a holistic view of the emerging smart mobility and t
