Lyle Kash

Lyle Kash (Writer/Director) graduated from Oberlin College in 2013 and holds a BA in American Studies. After graduation, he worked with Media Mobilizing Project (MMP), a community-based nonprofit that provides media production, training, and advocacy to grassroots organizing campaigns. As a Movement Media Fellow, his work with MMP taught him the power of filmmaking as a political act, and imbued him with the importance of visual storytelling as a tool for social activism. In the summer of 2015, Kash worked as a Gaffer/2nd AC on Kairos Dirt and the Errant Vacuum, directed by Madsen Minax. This experience served as technical training, and provided him with boundless creative and aestheti
