October 05th 2018: Republic Services' New 'Recycling Simplified' Campaign

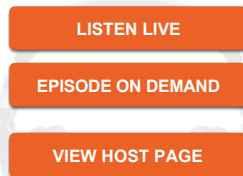

Recycling programs as we know it are at risk, because China, as one of the world's biggest recycled goods buyers, has increased their standards for the recycled goods they will import. Standards have gotten so tough that even one dirty pizza box can contaminate tons of recyclable material and send them to the landfill. According to Republic Services, as much as 30% of the materials in the recycling stream are currently contaminated. So, what's the solution? In the long-term, companies are improving technology to better sort and clean recycling. But for now, it's more important than ever that p
