February 13th 2019: Data-Driven Cities of the Future Part 2

The buzz: "... Smart Cities will vacuum up data — and attempt to protect it" (cbinsights.com). The data revolution and the competition to become the smart city of the future are combining to exponentially transform our cities. Visionary city leaders are embracing business model innovation to re-imagine public services, urban sustainability?and economic growth – all powered by data. Is your city in the running? The experts speak. Harald Wouters, City of Den Bosch: "... our personal data is probably the most valuable resource most humans still have to offer, and we are giving it to the tech giants i
