April 9th 2019: Bright Future of FP&A: Leading the Enterprise

The buzz: "We not only possess the tools to take FP&A to new heights, but FP&A will have to soar for organizations to thrive in the 21st century." (B. Kalish) The Intelligent Enterprise enables Finance to access data from all parts of the organization and to readily combine relevant financial data with operational data to make better decisions. How can the FP&A function become a leader, progressing from helping tomorrow's decisions to helping drive today's decisions? The experts speak. Bryan Lapidus, Association for Financial Professionals: "The future is already here – it's just not very eve
