There is a meaning crisis on a global scale that is draining the life out of people and the organizations that employ them. People hunger for meaningful connection with others, a life and work of purpose, and to enjoy a bigger, more beautiful life. And yet, there is so much employees, leaders and organizations can do to alter this tide and humanize the workplace while not just turning a profit but making the world a better place. In this episode, we talk with Dr. Pattakos, aka "Dr. Meaning," about how individuals can empower themselves, and leaders and organizations can implement, the new disc

Featured Guest

Alex Pattakos

Alex Pattakos, Ph.D., affectionately nicknamed "Dr. Meaning," is a modern-day Greek philosopher and founder of the Global Meaning Institute, a think tank dedicated to advancing the human quest for meaning in life, work, and society. He is coauthor with Elaine Dundon of Prisoners of Our Thoughts: Viktor Frankl's Principles for Discovering Meaning in Life and Work, based on the wisdom of the world-renowned psychiatrist, Viktor E. Frankl, M.D., Ph.D., who personally urged Dr. Pattakos to write it. Pattakos and Dundon are also the coauthors of The OPA! Way: Finding Joy & Meaning in Everyday Life & Work, that is uniquely inspired by Greek philosophy, mythology, and culture. Pattakos and Dundon ar
