The Kathryn Zox Show
Wednesday at 7 AM Pacific
April 1st 2020: Ep. 1240: Forensic Anthropology and Ep. 1241: Social Isolation

Kathryn interviews Forensic Anthropologist & Bones TV Producer Kathy Reichs PhD, NY Times best-selling author of "A Conspiracy of Bones." Her riveting new novel delivers all the twists and turns we've come to expect from the master of suspense, alongside a ripped-from-the-headlines plot that will thrill readers from the first page. Currently on leave, Dr. Reichs is a Professor in the Department of Anthropology at the University of North Carolina-Charlotte. Kathryn also interviews Rehabilitation Consultant Val Walker MS, author of "400 Friends and No One to Call: Breaking through Isolation and

Featured Guests

Kathy Reichs PhD

Kathy Reichs' first novel Déjà Dead won the 1997 Ellis Award for Best First Novel. Many other bestselling novels featuring forensic anthropologist Temperance Brennan have followed. In addition, she co-authored the Virals young adult series with her son, Brendan Reichs, and was a producer of the hit Fox TV series Bones, which is based on her work and her novels. From teaching FBI agents how to detect and recover human remains, to separating and identifying commingled body parts in her Montreal lab, Dr. Reichs has brought her own dramatic work experience as a forensic anthropologist to her mesmerizing forensic thrillers. Dr. Reichs is one of very few forensic anthropologists ever certified by
