June 30th 2020: Can we stop the advancement of technology

As we all hang out at home due to COVID-19 stay at home policy, technology development continues to expand. We have all heard about the information technology companies growth these past few months. Additionally, as I look into leisure activities, I can say that technology development continues to advance as more products and gadgets are placed on the market. I am amazed at the various business or leisure company products that have been launched in 2020.

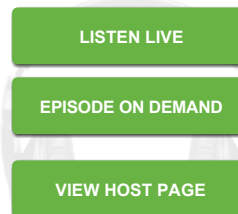

Therefore, it's time to discuss these technology advancements a little deeper and share my experiences. Let's see if you, can share b
