September 24th 2020: Industry 4.0 and The Next Generation of Mobility for Riders – NOT Drivers!

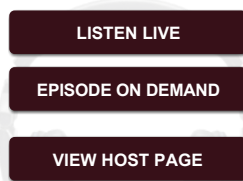

The buzz: "Next Gen Mobility: Some people say it's all about the journey...Anyone who can successfully implement a change in the way we use our automobiles will transform our society, and will likely reap considerable rewards..." (journal.businesstoday.org). "By 2030, the automotive landscape will be defined by more sustainable, safer and convenient ways of moving around..." (www.te.com) The next generation of mobility is for riders, leveraging technology to design new ways to make time spent between places more useful, social and fun. And Industry 4.0 plays a key role from the design of smart au
