John Rubino, Quinton Hennigh and Michael Oliver return. Why would anyone want to be President when America is facing an economic depression the likes of which has not been seen since the 1930s? The root of our economic travail is far deeper than COVID-19 evidenced by the repo market distress as early as September 2019 and, despite President Trump's claims, none of those underlying issues have been resolved. As 2021 unfolds, the economic landscape will be littered with massive corporate, city and individual bankruptcies. In dealing with those economic dead bodies, what policies can be expected
