Express Yourself!
Sunday at 3 PM Pacific
April 11th 2021: Technology, A.I., Data Mining

Diya Hituvalli and Siri Phaneendra host a fascinating program dedicated to technology and emerging technologies. Diya especially is fascinated by artificial intelligence with its unlimited possibilities to detect disease, eliminate world hunger, and make life easier through automation. She unveils the free app she developed, KeepMeSafe, a women's safety tool that utilizes voice recognition and location tracking to prevent sexual assault available in the iOS app store. The hosts interview author Michael C. Bland with his sci-fi title "The Price of Safety" which examines the dangers of data minin
