What would the world look like if we began teaching children about their unique talents and ways of being that can better the world? How would helping people discover their purpose at a very young age, and then choose careers to live it through, increase well-being, productivity, and even peace in the world? In this episode, we talk with Founder and Chief Shineologist Dr. Claudia Been about this very work she is doing through the House of Shine to help more people be their best and help bring it out of everyone they touch.

Dr. Claudia Beeny

Dr. Claudia K. Beeny has spent more than thirty years working in education, igniting the energy and passion of others. After a successful career in higher education, Claudia left her role to start House of Shine, a non-profit that helps people discover what makes them unique and how to leverage their Shine for the good of their community. Claudia and her team write K-12 curriculum, develop teaching tools, facilitate school assemblies and leadership experiences, and provide custom workshops to people of all ages. House of Shine is opening a physical location in Grapevine, TX in August of 2020 that will lead visitors on a magical journey to self discovery through experiential, hands on exhibi
