May 20th 2021: From She-cession to She-recovery: Rising from the Pandemic

The Buzz [May 2020/updated January 2021]: "Women are in the bullseye of this pandemic ... In leisure, hospitality, education, health care and retail — the sectors that are getting hit the hardest — women are the ones who are falling victim to the first massive waves of this economic crisis.... Women are disproportionately those who do the lowest paid jobs in our economy... women of color in particular are over-represented." (Emily Martin, VP, National Women's Law Center, www.cnbc.com/2020/05/14/coronavirus-job-losses-disproportionately-impact-women.html)
From the 2020 start of the COVID-19 pandem
