September 16th 2021: The Gift of Grandparents

This past Sunday marked National Grandparents Day, which was declared an official holiday in 1978. How important are grandparents? How do they impact the next generation? What lessons can we learn from them? Dr. Connie, a proud and loving "Lola" to Addison, Alexander, and Aubree shares the show with in-studio returning guest, Georgia Bunn, equally proud and loving "Grammy Bunn" to George and Robert.

Featured Guest

Georgia Bunn

Georgia Bunn is a fourth generation Oregonian whose great grandparents emigrated from Denmark to establish themselves as successful peppermint farmers in the Willamette Valley. Georgia was raised in a family that achieved self-sufficiency in farming while demonstrating generosity, serving neighboring families within their community. Her education started with undergraduate studies in Political Science at Willamette University and culminated with an MBA from Pepperdine University. Georgia Bunn currently serves as the Board Chair of Rubicon Investments, a family business established in 1911. She works with her son Daniel, Rubicon's CEO, and daughter-in-law Elizabeth, the Corporate Secre
