June 4th 2022: Catching KGB Hackers with 75¢ and a 2400 Baud Modem

Nation state hackers have been trying to get into the secrets stored on computers for decades. The Russian KGB has been trying, and often succeeding, to hack into computer systems before there was a publicly accessible internet; back when the Arpanet was used primarily to connect university and government computer systems. Do you know who caught the KGB in the act of their hacking activities within these computer systems when no one else, not even the FBI or the military, was interested in finding a hacker that was getting into some of the Arpanet connected computers? Why, an astronomer, of co

Dr. Clifford Stoll

Cliff Stoll gained worldwide attention as an astronomer as well as a cybersecurity investigator from his bestselling book, The Cuckoo's Egg: Tracking a Spy Through the Maze of Computer Espionage. In it he describes the true story of how he caught a ring of hackers who stole secrets from military computer systems and sold them to the KGB in 1986. Cliff Stoll wrote the famous and groundbreaking dissertation, "Polarimetry of Jupiter at Large Phase Angles." Cliff also creates and sells Klein bottles and a wide range of other products. Dr. Stoll also wrote 'Silicon Snake Oil' and 'High-Tech Heretic: Reflections of a Computer Contrarian.' See more about Dr. Clifford Stoll at
