Chat with Chicules: What They Couldn't Teach You in Business School Archives Available

The purpose of Chat with Chicules is to help you understand what others could not, to share what they couldn't teach you in business school, because you have to live it to get it. The intention of the show is to share insights and ideas to be successful in business today. Your show host, Lisa, will share the experiences she has unearthed in her journey to thrive in business. Lisa speaks with candor about what it really takes to be successful, challenges preconceived notions, and to inspire. This is for people who would rather stand up and be noticed than sit down and be hidden.
