September 14th 2006: Grieving the loss of a Sibling and Friends: The Columbine Tragedy

Craig Scott was in the library that fateful day of the Columbine tragedy where he witnessed 10 of his school mates shot and killed, including 2 of his close friends and his oldest sister Rachel. Craig has spoken to tens of thousands of people in live settings as well as millions through shows such as Dateline, Oprah, Good Morning America about his experience and the need to build a tolerant supportive atmosphere in our schools. Through his exposure to the media Craig has developed an interest in motion picture production and is currently working on a film about the events at Columbine High S
