

Kroll Call

Archives Available

April 2nd 2010: All My Children's Walt Willey and soap diva Catherine Hickland

This year, Walt Willey notches an amazing 23rd year as Jackson Montgomery on ABC's All My Children. Believe it or not, Willey was only supposed to be on ABC for a few episodes. While his alter ego has been embroiled in the typical soap opera drama and heartbreak, in the real world Walt is well-known for a great sense of humor. So join Walt as he visits Soap Central Live to talk about his AMC memories and his involvement in raising funds to help children with autism. Then, Catherine Hickland drops by for a surprise visit to chat with Dan about her time in daytime and what she's been up to s

Read more

Tune in

Archives Available on
VoiceAmerica Variety Channel

EPISODE ON DEMAND

VIEW HOST PAGE

Featured Guests

Walt Willey

Walt Willey didn't plan to be an actor. He majored in sculpture -- working in concrete and cast aluminum -- at Southern Illinois University, and is also accomplished at drawing and painting.

Read more

Guest Image

Catherine Hickland

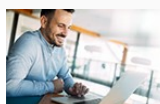

Born and raised in Fort Lauderdale, Catherine Hickland is well-known to television audiences for roles in both primetime and daytime. To soap viewers, she is known as Tess Wilder on Loving and The City, the dual role of Julie Clegg and Jenny Diamond on Capitol, and bad girl Lindsay Rappaport on One Life to Live.

Read more

Share This Episode

Connect with VoiceAmerica

Read what our hosts are writing about.

