April 27th 2010: "Climate Communication Facilitation and Response"

Dr. Margaret Leinen joins David Gibbons to discuss the urgent and critical issues facing a global society in reducing climate and environmental degradation. She has chaired many important organizations including the US Global Change Research Program and US Climate Change Science Program among many other areas in research and administrative positions. As Founder of the Climate Response Fund her work taken from an extensive background in all areas of environmental and climate study, provides the foundation for deeper and more communicative solutions towards encouraging focus on the emerging and
