

TROUBLE VIEWING? Click Here to view the Promo card on the web

SIGN-UP NOW! SIGN-UP NOW! Click to become a Member for Free!

Moir's Environmental Dialogues

Thursdays at 12 Noon Pacific

October 13th 2010: The Natural History of the American Fur Industry, plus personal account on becoming an environmental policy expert

Eric Jay Dolin's latest book is Fur, Fortune and Empire. His is an epic history of beaver, buffalo, seal and sea otter. Fur animal populations were heavily exploited and only survived because market forces drove hunters westward. Finally on the west coast sea otter are so over harvested that many of their populations never return. Dolin ends his book with the 1900 advent of conservation laws. Dolin describes how he became an eminent environmental policy expert and Switzer fellow from collecting shells as a child to Woods Hole and beyond. Ocean Champions Mike Dunmyer picks up where Dolin l

Read more

Tune in

Thursdays at 12 Noon Pacific Time on VoiceAmerica Variety Channel

Questions? Comments?
Call In Live!

Toll Free: 1-866-472-5788
Intl: 001-480-398-1394

Featured Guest

Eric Dolin

Eric Dolin has a BA and BS from Brown University; Masters of Environmental Management from the Yale School of Forestry and Environmental Studies; and a Ph.D. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in environmental policy and planning from MIT, where Eric's dissertation focused on the role of the courts in the cleanup of Boston Harbor. Eric Dolin has held a variety of jobs, including cook at the Fish Monger Café Woods Hole, stints as a fisheries policy analyst, a program manager at the U.S. EPA, an environmental consultant stateside and in London, an American Association for the Advancement of Science writing fellow at Business Week, a curatorial assistant in the Mollusk Department

Read more

Share This Episode

Connect with VoiceAmerica

Download our mobile apps

