May 31st 2011:VIP Guest is Dr. Lalit K. Panwar, Government of India

Today, India is becoming more in the forefront of industry with globalization. More than a billion people from all sectors of Socio-Economic life. Some are trained in their nation while others seek education in foreign lands. With this, close to 100,000 young boys and girls are school dropouts due to poor finances, learning difficulties, emotional problems, et cetera. Can these adolescents be prime targets of terrorist recruitment? Dr. Panwar gives a general view of India, the reality of problems with solutions, and the nation's focus for tourism.
