PI's Declassified!
Thursday at 9 AM Pacific
November 03rd 2011:Nebraska Dead Man Walking Exonerated

Jeremy Sheets became America's 95th exonerated death row inmate. Jeremy spent nearly four years on Nebraska's death row. He was convicted on the word of his co-defendant, Adam Barnett, who exchanged a taped statement for a drastically reduced sentence. Barnett later recanted, then prior to Jeremy's retrial, committed suicide in prison. Jeremy will chronicle the treachery that led to his wrongful conviction, the details of his release, and finally, his frustration at being a citizen with a history tainted with lies and betrayal.
