March 01st 2012: Child Retrieval from Parental Abductions

Per capita, Australia has the highest rate of parental abduction in the world with over 100 children abducted by the non-custodian parent each year. British officials report one British child abducted every two days. The United States Department of Justice reports non-custodial parents are responsible for kidnapping hundreds of children every year. Often it is complicated when the child is removed from their home country. Australian Private Investigator Keith Schafferius has dedicated his career to retrieving abducted children from all over the world and returning them to their court-ordered c

Featured Guest

Keith Schafferius

After Keith SCHAFFERIUS served in the Royal Australian Air Force & spent a brief stint as a motel & restaurant owner on Australia's Gold Coast, he switched gears to become a private investigator. Four decades later, Keith is Australia's longest active PI license holder. He is a member of the World Association of Detectives. Keith developed International Detection Services into one of Australia's most high profile investigation businesses. He became known as an international specialist in non-custodial parental abduction child recovery, often risking his life, & once even jailed. Today, he continues to be a consultant for the business he sold in 2004 & still handles cases for a number of in
