June 20th 2012: Testosterone Deficiency

Testosterone deficiency is the most serious disease to affect human beings, yet it is almost universally ignored and neglected. Learn the facts of the disease (along with the many misconceptions and old wives' tales) and see and hear the results of treatment. Also, find out why the majority of testing procedures for testosterone are of very little value in real settings. Whether you are a twenty something year old or someone in your eighties, you can't afford NOT to hear this show!
