October 23rd 2012: Special Encore Presentation: Blended ABA Treatments for Autism

In this episode of Autism Spectrum Radio Dr. Frea focuses on intensive early intervention approaches to treating autism. Current ABA treatments often involve a combination of ABA methods to best address the individual child's needs. These blended interventions can be confusing as the right combination can take time and effort to determine and changes over time. It is important for parents to understand the basic differences in ABA approaches and how they address different needs for their child. In this episode Dr. Frea and his guest, Dr. Travis Thompson discuss blended ABA therapies and what q
